

6th

Philosophy of Education Conference: Call for Papers

Venue: Azim Premji University, Bangalore

Dates: January 11-13, 2018

Theme: Moral and Political Education

Azim Premji University

Confirmed Speakers

Akeel Bilgrami, Columbia University, USA

David Hansen, Teachers College Columbia University, USA

Geoffrey Hinchliffe, University of East Anglia, UK

Kanchana Mahadevan, Mumbai University, Mumbai

Niraja Gopal Jayal, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi

Paul Standish, UCL Institute of Education,
University of London, UK

Azim Premji University invites submissions for the Sixth Philosophy of Education Conference, at Bangalore, from January 11-13, 2018 on the theme 'Moral and Political Education'.

Submissions should address the questions related to moral and political issues in learning, teaching and school curricula with concerns of:

1. What ought to be the programme of moral education in a democratic secular society?
2. How is value education distinguished from moral, civic and political education?
3. How is education for citizenship related to the development of moral and political sense among children?
4. How is education for peace or human rights related to developing a moral and political conscience in children?

Authors are, however, encouraged to explore the given theme from a range of perspectives beyond the above sub-themes. We especially look for submissions from young scholars and doctoral students.

Submission Requirements

Full papers of 4500-5000 words should be uploaded on or after June 1, 2017 on the link provided at www.azimpremjiuniversity.edu.in/poe/.

Travel and Accommodation

Lodging and boarding for the period of conference will be provided by Azim Premji University. Travel may be fully or partly supported for some participants depending on need.

For complete call for papers and more details, visit us at www.azimpremjiuniversity.edu.in/poe/ or write to poe.conference@apu.edu.in

Submission Deadline: September 15, 2017